Researcher Highlights: School of Nursing Research Awards 2021

Congratulations to the following School of Nursing Research Award Winners from Spring 2021:

Research Achievement Award Winner Susan McBride, PhD, RN-BC, CPHIMS, FAAN

The Research Achievement Award honors a faculty member who has a substantial and sustained record of scientific inquiry that enhances the practice of nursing. The faculty member has a record of original, high-impact publications, external funding, and national or international peer recognition and research awards. Dr. McBride has published 22 peer reviewed, data-based publications, has conducted 24 research presentations at national and international settings and has been honored with the American Journal of Nursing Book of the Year Award for her 1st and 2nd edition of her textbook: Nursing Informatics for the Advanced Practice Nurse: Patient Safety, Quality, Outcomes, and Inter-professionalism. She has a significant record of external funding. External federal funding totals slightly more than $10 million since 2002. She has overseen approximately 60 Masters' student informatics capstone projects as the Program Director of the MSN Informatics track. She has supported 31 students to complete their DNP projects as advisor (11 projects) or chair (20 projects).

Novice Investigator Award Winner Amy Owen, PhD, RN (Abilene Regional Campus)

The Novice Investigator Award honors a faculty member who demonstrates exceptional potential as an independent investigator and has achieved recognition for work accomplished at the university. Dr. Owen published three peer-reviewed publications and has also presented at international, national, regional, and local conferences. She received a Sigma Theta Tau Grant from the Iota Mu Chapter to conduct a study Digital Innovation Demonstrating Next-Gen Clinical Judgment Model Using Virtual Simulation Exemplar for Thinking Like a Nurse. She is also an active member of the university Research Collaborative. Dr. Owen's project was selected at the AACN/Apple Digital Innovations Bootcamp in which 35 applications were selected from over 170 applicants. Dr. Owen served as facilitator for the university Inter-Professional Education Committee, facilitator and member of the university Emergency Department (TRAUMA DAY) Simulation and facilitator and member for university Leadership Course Mock Peer Interviews.
